

David Forman
Executive Director
Competitive Carriers' Coalition

BIOGRAPHY

David Forman is the executive director of the Competitive Carriers' Coalition. The CCC was formed as a loose alliance in 2001 as a vehicle for the non-dominant, pro-competition carriers to present a single voice in support of policy and regulatory reform. It was incorporated as a formal industry association in August 2004. Combined, its members represent more than $4 billion of investment in telecommunications infrastructure.

The members of the CCC strongly believe that infrastructure-based competition is the only form of sustainable competition in telecommunications in Australia and are committed to promoting debate about the policy and regulatory settings.

Prior to joining the CCC, he was General Manager Corporate Affairs and Regulatory for Comindico, a position he held from 2002. Prior to that, he was Vice President Corporate Affairs with Redfern Photonics.
